914World.com _ FS/WTB: 914 Parts _ 2.0 Heads Race Prepared Smoking Hot Deal!

Posted by: HAM Inc Jan 25 2013, 02:41 PM

I picked these heads up a few years ago along with a Finch race header (also for sale). Years before I got them the fellow I got them from moved up from club racing a 914 to a 944. I did some 944S head work for him and he asked me if I would like to own some Finch prepped heads. I have no paper work to support the claim that they were indeed prepared by Finch, but the port work is spectacular and the heads feature some tricks that I've been using for years myself. They were clearly done by someone who knows their stuff.

They have single groove S.S. 8mm stem 44mmx36mm valves with Titanium retainers. The dual springs are located with very nice step shims. The springs have a max pressure of 350#'s so they're set-up for some revs.

The chambers were flycut with a 1mm step and have a total volume of 50cc's. The registers are stock sized.

They've been run through my ultrasonic cleaner and look very nice.

They are a little dog-eared from use, but I see no reason they couldn't be bolted on as is. IMO they have plenty of life left in them.

All of the ex studs are intact, and the plug threads are in good shape.
I'm only asking $125.00. I have no use for them and I really need the space. I'm offering them here rather than evil-bay because I figure a World member might make good use of them.

They are offered as is.
